Bruce Ratner wants to drop not just an arena, but 17 skyscrapers (up to 50 stories high, with 2.1 million square feet of unneeded office space and 4500 units of mostly rental housing) onto 6 blocks of Prospect Heights/ Fort Greene. One year ago, this proposal was announced as a “done deal,” and ever since then, the developer and his political friends have been fighting to make sure no other plan gets discussed.

With the Ratner plan, our tax dollars go into his pocket. He owns everything that gets built, and HE decides what trickles back to the community. But if jobs and housing are the goal, why not SUPPORT them DIRECTLY, with a plan that's developed Find Out How Good Development Can Unite Communities, Instead of Divide Them!
